

The ESD .NET 2.0 GradeBook is a fully integrated component of the ESD .NET 2.0 Student Information System. Unlike grade books in other student management systems, the ESD GradeBook shares the same database and application layer as the Student Information System. This provides unparalleled access to real-time data availability. Because the components are integrated, the complexities of managing multiple and very different applications have been eliminated.

The ESD GradeBook supports extensive and flexible grading methodologies, including standards-based grading and reporting. Reporting period grades are automatically calculated from detailed assignment scores. The end of term grade collection and posting anguish of other grade books is completely eliminated because the ESD GradeBook and Student Information System are truly integrated.

Additional features of the GradeBook include:

- Web based access from anywhere. No client to maintain, easy to support.
- Easy and intuitive design reduces training and support costs
- Real-time grade, attendance and student information is available for all district stakeholders
- Supports standards-based and traditional grading methodologies as well as composite grading
- Teachers have access in real time to student data in the ESD SIS. This valuable information includes, but is not limited to student academic history, performance information, discipline, and health records
- Powerful and flexible reporting provides insight and helpful tools for teachers to manage their classroom

The image displays two screenshots of the ESD .NET 2.0 GradeBook software interface. The top screenshot shows a gradebook for 'ALGEBRA II (5173-2)' for the year 2010, term 2, period 3-3 at Washington High School. The table lists 23 students with their GP1 Avg and scores across various assessment periods (EOW4, Quad, 5.6 HW, 5.7 HW, EE #2, 5.6 HW, BFT1, CH. 5.1, 5.5 HW, 5.2 & 5.3 PG, 5.2 HW). The bottom screenshot shows the 'Attendance > Attendance' view for the same school, displaying a grid of attendance records for the same 23 students. A pop-up window for 'SMITH, STEVEN - 17295 - SENIOR' is open, showing his health condition (ALLERGIC, ASTHMA, HEADACHES), special services (Health/Nursing services, MTH, PHYSICAL THERAPY), and contact information for his mother, MARY SMITH.
